Venues

Knight's Hall

Open wooden beams, a panelled ceiling - this is how the immersion into the Middle Ages becomes a celebration.

The Knights' Hall is the perfect backdrop for your unique celebration for up to 250 people.

Ox room

Skins on the walls and on the benches radiate coziness, the historical ambience of the Ochsenstube is omnipresent. A wide wooden table where everyone sits together, laughs, eats, drinks - celebrates. This is how we imagine the Middle Ages at their best. The Ox room has room for 50 people.

Additional Venues at Schloss Kaltenberg

Barrel Hall

Amazing celebrations are guaranteed in the time-honoured walls of the barrel hall. Up to 280 people can find a place to dine, meet and celebrate here.

A highlight is the forecourt of the Drum hall, which is perfect for open-air events.

Bräustüberl

Whoever dares to cross the bridge of the Schlossgraben will find his way to the Bräustüberl.

Up to 120 seats await you and your guests - and in summer, with seating in the cosy castle courtyard, even more.

Valhalla

Fourteen meters high, rustic cosiness - that is the Valhalla in old nordic style.

In the warm months up to 200 people can easily find a seat here.

Knights Dinner at Kaltenberg Castle

The Knights' Dinner is a highlight in the Ritterschwemme: Let yourself and your guests be carried off into the Middle Ages by our gleemen and enjoy food and drink just like in the days of knights and kings.

The ducal couple invites you and the aristocratic society to be entertained by games and music, while the maids and servants of the Ritterschwemme provide for your physical well-being.

The Knights' Dinner is a great experience, which in the historical setting in front of Kaltenberg Castle, is something very special for every occasion.

Rules of Court at the Knights Meal

The Knights' Dinner is a highlight in the Ritterschwemme: Let yourself and your guests be carried off into the Middle Ages by our gleemen and enjoy food and drink just like in the days of knights and kings.

Duration

From the proper greeting up to the announcement of the farewell, the knight's meal takes about 3.5 hours.

Dress Code

The tavern is a place of larder, drink and conviviality - whoever comes here experiences cosiness. Therefore comfortable robes are an advantage to enjoy the meal to the fullest.

However, should a noble knight or a pious damsel of the castle be among you, they are welcome to dine with us in their armour and crown.

Music and Game

Between larder and potion, the gleemen worry about the fun of the present guests. The dignified entertainment of the round table includes cheerful singing as well as music from flute and shawms.

Table Manners

In the halls of the Ritterschwemme, women and men are served exclusively by the maids and servants of the Ritterschwemme. None of the guests is elected to be a maid or a servant.

Apart from two healthy hands, the stiletto is the only existing tool for dining and can be used as a fork instead. But whoever puts the stiletto on the good farmer's bread shows indecent behaviour - because as every boy knows, this is only broken with the hands.

The drink is the ale and is served by the servant in the jug. If one or the other does not like this drink, he can turn to the maid or servant and ask for something else. The empty pitchers are placed on the table as a signal for servants, so that freshly filled pitchers can be brought soon.

Functions at the table

As usual at court, various offices are held by the guests, e.g:

Taster

Each larder and each drink is tasted by the chosen taster to avoid poisoning at tables. Only when this has been done, is the rest of the company served or poured out. If a maid or servant neglects to do so, punishment will be inevitable.

Salt Servant

Salt was equal to gold and an expensive commodity. Thus it finds sparse application in the preparation of prepared larders. One turns to the salt servant for decadent seasoning.

The Salt servant is chosen by the Round Table. He manages the salt treasure and takes care to use the white gold sparingly.
